Report of the School Committee.

In presenting this report for the year ending March 1, 1900, your school committee take much pleasure in saying that we are able to report a full year's work, with good results.

We are convinced that all persons employed in behalf of the schools have endeavored to do the best in their power to promote the intellectual moral, and physical well being of the children therein.

Our new, modern school house with its perfect system of lighting, heating and sanitation, has fulfilled all our expectations, and the increased interest in school work, the higher moral tone of the pupils, and the general desire to aid the janitor and the teachers in keeping the building, its conveniences, and its attractive school-rooms in the best condition, proves that the children are proud of their school-house and appreciate its benefits. The necessity for order, cleanliness and regard for the rights of others is plainly seen, and the rules therefore are cheerfully obeyed by most of the scholars. In the few instances where these rules have been transgressed, firm and resolute action on the part of the committee, teachers and parents has resulted in converting the child to submission to rightful authority.

SCHOOL AT SOUTH DOUGLAS.

By vote of the town last March, the school at South Douglas was re-opened and Miss Lawlor became its teacher. The register shows that the largest number of scholars at any time during the year has been only 12 scholars, while the average attendance has been only  $9\frac{1}{3}$  scholars.

ADMISSION TO HIGH SCHOOL.

Your committee departed from the previous custom here, and in accordance with the recommendation of the Agent of the State Board of Education admitted all applicants whose records of scholarship were up to the required standard.

DRAWING.

In accordance with State requirements Drawing has been introduced into our schools, and Miss Susan B. Hayward has been employed as teacher. The results of her teaching have been quite satisfactory, notably in the lower grades. Quite an outlay from the school funds was necessary in initiating this study, but it cannot be doubted that the gain to the children in the training of eye and hand, has compensated for the expense incurred.

OUR PUBLIC LIBRARY.

This is found to be a help in the work of the schools. Provision is made whereby teachers may draw reference and other books from the Library for use in the school room. It is suggested that teachers, scholars and parents would do well to furnish the trustees of the Library with lists of such books as may be supplementary to the text-books, particularly in the line of History and Geography, such as books of travel, biography, and the so-called historical novel.

TRUANCY.

With a truant officer who understands his duty and does it, we are able to report that the cases of habitual truancy are comparatively few. It may be well here to state the letter of the law regarding truancy. Chap. 494, Acts of 1898, Sections 24, 25, and 26, name the three classes of children that may be committed to truant schools. 1st.—Habitual absentees or children between seven and sixteen, who are found wandering about, growing up in idleness and ignorance. 2nd.—Habitual truants, children between seven and fourteen years of age. 3rd.—Habitual school offenders or children under fourteen, who persistantly violate reasonable school regulations or misbehave at achool so as to become fit subjects for expulsion.

SUPPLIES AND SCHOOL BOOKS.

Under the management of our present purchasing agent, the expense for school books and supplies has been reduced from over five hundred dollars a year to a little more than three hundred. But this year it will be necessary to purchase new Geographies, and we ask for an appropriation of four hundred dollars to meet the expense of this department.

STATISTICS.

In order that the report of statistics may harmonize with the school year, the State Board requires the reports to be made for the year from Sept. 1 to Sept. 1. This has caused a repetition in some calculations, and may account for some seeming discrepancies.

CONCLUSION.

The committee realize fully the impossibility of thorough supervision of the schools under the present system. Business men with other paramount interests have but little time to visit schools. Schools must of necessity be better managed and have better methods when the teachers' work has the critical oversight of a trained superintendent, and we recommend that as soon as practicable, this town, either by uniting with other towns or by combining the office of Superintendent with that of High School teacher, place our schools on a par with those of neighboring towns.

Good schools in good, healthy, school buildings, attractively situated, are the best indication of the moral and intellectual standing of a community, and are of no mean value in attracting and holding a desirable class of citizens.
